A studio in the art-savvy Northwood region of West Palm Beach provides an appropriate backdrop for the versatile, creative minds behind Gil Walsh Interiors. Along with a combined 30-plus years of design experience, the dynamic team of Gil Walsh and Holly Stephan brings an artist's sensibility to innovative projects that range from a Soho-inspired loft in Naples to a chic Miami Beach condo to a traditional Tudor home in the Northeast. "Our belief in ourselves, backed by years of working in the field of interior design, assures that everything we undertake reflects the Gil Walsh Interiors brand."

1. What led you to this profession?

For both of us, it was a passion for the arts, architecture, art history, and the integration of the decorative arts and fashion.

2. How would you describe the personality of your business?

Exciting, fun, energetic, warm, professional, eclectic and a true partnership. There is a subtle edge to everything we do. Opening our studio in the Northwood area of Palm Beach County provides an environment that reflects the personality of our business.

3. How do you define a successful project?

We define success by the smiles on the faces of our clients, and by the friends and family members they refer us to. We know we are successful when they return again and again with new projects as they buy additional homes around the country.

4. What do you strive to create when working on a project?

We want clients to be invested in the process and see the possibilities available. The harmony we create with a client is reflected in the harmony of the finished project.

5. What is the soul of your brand?

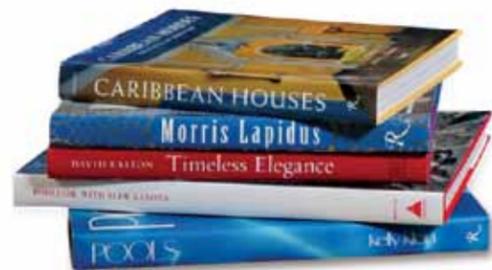

It's Gil and Holly. We've created a dynamic that explodes with ideas and results in breathtaking rooms.

"Objet d'art"—17th century > reclaimed French Finial found during one of our flea market hunts.

"The excitement of creating a room can be infectious, and the client should feel the excitement of being part of the process."

"Color"—Color excites > us, coupled with fabulous art and framed with great architectural elements.

▲ Our books are our inspiration.
